

Report on the Pledge-Taking Ceromony on Sarvodaya Day

Sarvodaya Day is an annual event that commemorates the death anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, the father of the nation in India. It is an important day to remember Gandhi's teachings of non-violence, truth, and universal love. This year, in 2023, the event was organized at the Department of Studies in Library and Information Science, University of Mysore, Mysuru. The first and third-semester students assembled separately in their classes and took the pledge, which was administered by Prof. N.S. Harinarayana for first semester and Prof. M. Chandrashekhara for third semester. The oath was taken in Kannada for Kannada-speaking students and in English for others. The ceremony was attended by professors, guest faculty, administrative staff, and research students.

The Sarvodaya Day Pledge Taking Ceremony is an important event for students, as it provides them with an opportunity to learn about Gandhi's teachings and to pledge to follow his values in their own lives. By taking the oath, students show their commitment to promoting peace, love, and non-violence in their communities and the world at large. The event is also a way to bring people together and to remind them of the importance of Gandhi's message for a better and more just world.

The photos taking during the Ceremony are given below: